

Our API is now available for Linux

And continues to support Windows

More flexibility for your system integration: Our proven API is now available for Linux, while remaining fully compatible with Windows.

With this update, the ALP Controller Suite can be integrated into both Windows- and Linux-based environments, giving developers and system integrators greater flexibility when choosing their preferred platform.

Your benefits at a glance:

- Now compatible with Linux
- Full Windows compatibility remains
- Flexible integration into existing systems
- More freedom for customized applications

One API. Two platforms. More flexibility. Download the latest version now and benefit from cross-platform support.
